

The background of the image is a close-up of a Christmas tree's branches, heavily decorated with numerous small, bright lights. The lights are primarily in shades of vibrant red and deep blue, creating a dynamic and festive atmosphere. The branches themselves are dark green, providing a rich contrast to the glowing lights. The overall effect is one of warmth and celebration, typical of the holiday season.

I am going to him who sent me, and none of you asks, 'Where are you going? But because I have said these things, sorrow has filled your heart. Nevertheless I tell you ... it is to your advantage that I go away, for if I do not go away, the Helper will not come to you. But if I go I will send him to you ...

John 16: 12-14

I have still many things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now. When the Spirit of truth comes, he will guide you into all the truth ... whatever he hears he will speak, and he will declare to you the things that are to come. He will glorify me, for he will take what is mine and declare it to you ...

How will the Spirit lead us?

The background is a dark, abstract composition of glowing, translucent shapes. On the left, there are several bright blue, starburst-like or crystalline structures. On the right, there are more elongated, teardrop-shaped forms in shades of blue and red, some appearing to have a metallic or glass-like sheen. The overall effect is ethereal and futuristic.
